CENSUS OFFICE,

“ THE HONORABLE WILLIAM ANNAND, } Statistics.

All the abstracts being completed, and placed in the hands of the printer, in compliance with the request of the Honorable the Chairman of your Board, I have the honor to present my report of the Census of Nova Scotia for 1861.

Before entering upon the results, I trust it will not be considered out of place to make a few observations, in reference to the machinery by which the information detailed in the various abstracts, has been collected and condensed.

After carefully examining the forms used in Great Britain and Canada, it was decided to adopt so much of both, as was applicable to this Province; and after such further additions as were necessary, a form of schedule was prepared, called the “Householder’s Schedule,” one of which, in conformity with the English practice, and partially that of Canada, was delivered by the Enumerators to each family, before the day fixed for taking the Census, viz.: the 30th March.

In Canada the Census is taken by Townships; but in many parts of this Province, there being no regularly defined Townships, the only practical mode was to take it by Polling Districts; and while upon this part of the subject, I would respectfully suggest the propriety, before another Census is taken, of having every County laid off into Townships, or Census Districts, with boundaries properly defined and established. There are two very strong objections to taking the Census by Polling Districts: first, the great disparity between the Districts, both as respects area and the number of inhabitants; and secondly, the want of permanent boundaries, as scarcely a session of the Legislature passes without the boundaries of some Polling District being changed.

The selection of suitable persons to act as Enumerators, became a very important part of my duty. The Legislature being in session, I availed myself of the opportunity thus afforded, of obtaining information from the members, as to competent persons to employ; and I have much pleasure in bearing testimony to their cordial co-operation, and valuable assistance.

The Enumerators were furnished with printed instructions accompanying the schedules, and much credit is due to most of the parties engaged, for the prompt and efficient manner in which their duties were discharged; more particularly when it is considered, that this was the first time of taking the Census in this Province by the mode adopted.

In a work of this kind, it is necessary to bear in mind that the information obtained is chiefly voluntary. Many of the Enumerators state, that in numerous instances they found persons unwilling, and some even refusing, to give the necessary information, professing to believe that the object of taking the Census was for the purpose of imposing taxation. This, however, is not to be wondered at, as the same prejudice, creating the same difficulty, is found to exist in all other countries. It is said this feeling prevailed to such an extent in the United States when the Census before the last was taken, that it became necessary in some districts to put in force the act of Congress for refusal to reply to the interrogatories of the Enumerators. A writer has remarked, in reference to this matter, that "People are slow to see that questions relating to themselves and their households, can have any bearing on the general good, and forget that in accounts of large numbers, the individual is wholly lost sight of in the average, but that the average can only be obtained by an accurate knowledge of all that pertains to the individual." I have great pleasure in stating here, that much credit is due to the clergy of several denominations, for their exertions through the press and otherwise, in disabusing the public mind in reference to such prejudices.

Some idea may be had of the labor to be performed in this office, from the following statement, viz.: About 55,000 Householder's Schedules were returned to the office, each of which had to be carefully examined, and statistical information under six different heads, extracted therefrom and put into as many abstract forms. These do not include buildings, places of worship, mills, &c., which were returned by the Enumerators in a separate schedule.

The mode of proceeding in the analysis was as follows :

1st.—PERSONAL CENSUS.

The most difficult and tedious part of the work was the classification of the ages, deaths, marriages, deaf and dumb, blind, lunatics, idiots, &c., distinguishing between male and female, married and single, widowers and widows; also the number between 5 and 15 years of age, and above 15, who could not read and write, which arrangement in one abstract, occupies no fewer than 150 columns. Next comes the classifications of origin, religions, trades and occupations, deaths and causes of deaths, each requiring separate abstracts.

2nd.—AGRICULTURAL CENSUS.

The agricultural tables contain a large and valuable amount of information, which occupy 55 pages of closely printed matter, and which will be found treated of at length hereafter.

Although the work has necessarily cost a considerable amount, the expense will contrast very favorably with that of Canada in 1851, compared with the population. My estimate, exclusive of printing and binding the Report and Abstracts when compiled, was $12,500. In this estimate I did not include the alphabetical arrangement, and binding the schedules, which at your suggestion has been done, making 118 volumes; these will form a valuable record for reference. The whole amount, including some allowance, in addition to that fixed, to Enumerators in large districts, and binding the schedules, will not exceed the estimate more than $400. The experience of the office suggests the propriety of making some alteration in the mode of making the returns by the Enumerators. In Canada a commissioner is appointed for each County, whose duty it is to appoint the Enumerators, receive from them the schedules when filled up, prepare abstracts therefrom, and return the abstracts to the head office; instead of the schedules being returned by the Enumerators, as was done here. I would recommend that in future a person be appointed in each County, as in Canada, thoroughly acquainted with every locality. The Sheriff, as a general rule, would be a suitable person. The commissioner so appointed, to select with great care the Enumerators, furnish them with the schedules, and give them full information relative to their duty in taking the Census. The schedules after being filled up, to be returned to the commissioner, who, with the Enumerators, will carefully examine and correct them; after which they should be returned by the Commissioner to the head office. I deem it essentially neccasary, for the purpose of insuring correctness and uniformity, that all the abstract work should be done in the head office. The Secretary, in his report of the Census of Canada for 1851, complains that great discrepancies were discovered in the abstracts furnished by the commissioners.

I would suggest that the next Census should contain a return of the value of Agricultural Implements possessed by each land-holder. Such a return would afford a valuable source of information, as showing the amount of that description of personal property.

Mr. Hutton, in his report of the Census of Canada for 1851, says: "The returns of a Population Census acquire their chief utility, from being contrasted with those of former periods; as from this comparison we learn the increase or decrease of the population, and the proportionate relation of the two sexes. It has been found, that although Great Britain has increased upwards of ten millions during the last half century, yet throughout this period the sexes have preserved their relative proportion, viz., 30 males to 31 females." The Census of Canada for 1851 shows the reverse, there being in Upper Canada 33 males to 30 females, and in Lower Canada about 51 males to 50 females; while in Nova Scotia the two sexes are nearly equal. In 1851 the females exceeded the males only about 1 in 200, and in 1861 the males exceed the females about 1 in 500. The difference in the relative proportion of the sexes in the Countries named, may be reasonably accounted for upon the principle of emigration. More males than females emigrate from Great Britain, causing the females to predominate there; while in Canada the males predominate, owing to larger accessions of males than females to the population by immigration. In Nova Scotia the relative proportion of the sexes is but slightly affected in this respect.

The following table shows the increase in the population during the past ten years, with the rate per cent. of increase in the several Counties.

The Counties of Kings and Cumberland show an increase of over 30 per cent., Colchester and Queens nearly 30, Halifax 25, and the others, Shelburne excepted, varying from 10 to 21—the average increase being nearly 20 per cent. The increase in England and Wales during the same period was 12 per cent. The County of Shelburne exhibits comparatively no increase. Upon ascertaining this fact I wrote to the Honble. Mr. Locke, and Thomas Coffin, Esqr., two of the representatives of the County, both of whom, although evidently surprised at the result, assured me that they had every confidence in the integrity of the Enumerators, and their ability to perform the work assigned them.

The average number of each family in the Province is 6.07; in Canada the average in 1851 was 6.26, and in Great Britain the same year 4.73.

The following table shows the relative proportion of the two sexes under 50 years of age to be nearly preserved, comparing the Census of 1851 with 1861, classified in periods of 10 years.

Under 10 and from 10 to 20 years, the males, both in 1851 and 1861, are in the ascendant; from 20 to 30 and from 30 to 40 years the females exceed the males in both decennial returns; while from 40 to 50 only, is this relative proportion slightly disturbed, in 1851 the males exceeding the females 345, and in 1861 the females outnumbering the males 163. Above 50 years of age, the relative proportion is still preserved, the males in both periods exceeding the females, although more in the latter than in the former period. The Census Tables of 1851 include all over 50 years of age under one head, while those of 1861 continue the classification in periods of 10 years, by which it is shown that from 50 to 80 the males continue in excess of the females; the greatest difference, however, being from 60 to 70 years. From 80 to 90 the females are again in advance of the males, and from 90 to 100 they are equal, numbering 112 of each sex. Over 100 years of age there are 7 males and 14 females, viz.: of males 3 married, 1 single, and 3 widowers; and of females 1 single and 13 widows. The Census Tables again, in 1851, include all under 10 years of age in one column, while those of 1861 divide them into periods of 1 year each, up to 5, and include from 5 to 10 under one head, at all of which periods the males exceed the females. A reference to the Abstracts will show, that the relative proportions vary very much in different Counties, compared with the general result; in some Counties the males, and in others the females predominating at the various ages or periods into which they are divided.

In Upper Canada, in 1851, where the males exceeded the females about 10 per cent in the aggregate, they were also in advance in every period into which the abstracts were divided. In Lower Canada, however, where the relative proportion of the two sexes in the whole population is nearly similar to that of Nova Scotia, the like result is also exhibited as regards the various classifications of ages, at some periods the males, and at other periods the females being in the ascendant.

The married portion of the population next claims attention. The Counties of Colchester, Cumberland and Digby, each return 1 married female under 15 years of age. There are 615 of this class between 15 and 20,

* In column ages not given, not included.

Inverness contributing 7, the smallest, and Kings 75, the largest number, compared with the population of the respective Counties. There are also returned for the Province 31 married males under 20 years of age; between 20 and 30 the married males number considerably more than half the married females; while between 30 and 40 the number of each sex occupying this relation is nearly equal, the females, however, still leading in numbers; but about this period a change takes place, the married males between 40 and 50 outnumbering the females over 1000. From 50 to 100 years of age, the number of married males continues in advance of the females of this class, in about the same ratio as the latter exceeded the former previous to 50; and, it is a curious fact, that the number of married males over 100 years of age is just equal to the number of married females under 15 years. The Counties of Halifax, Pictou and Lunenburg each return 1 of this class at this advanced age. There is another curious feature relative to the married portion of the population, viz.: the number of both sexes that marry so much earlier in life in some Counties than in others. Take for example King's, Lunenburg, Colchester and Cumberland, with a population about equal, all of which return a much greater number of married of both sexes under 30 years of age, than Inverness and Cape Breton, having a population nearly corresponding with the above Counties. They also return a greater number of this class than Pictou, with a population much larger. Similar comparisons would apply to other Counties. The disparity between the number of widows and widowers, is another remarkable feature ascertained by the Census; there being 8382 widows, and but 3165 widowers, or over 160 per cent. more of the former than of the latter. Nearly the same inequality is found to exist throughout the various classifications of ages in the Census abstracts; this is the more singular, from the fact that there is only 12 per cent. more deaths of males than females. The disparity can only be reasonably accounted for upon the principle that a much greater number of widowers than widows marry again, and that they do not generally select widows as partners. The Census of 1851 shows the same preponderance of widows over widowers. In Canada the difference is not so great, being under 100 per cent., although the relative mortality of the two sexes is nearly equal; widows must be more fortunate in obtaining husbands there.

The total number of deaths in one year, previous to the 30th March, 1861, was 4679, being 1.41 per cent. of the entire population. The mortality of the two sexes, as before remarked, was nearly equal, viz.: 2480 males, and 2199 females. A similar equality is observable in the various periods of classification, excepting between 20 and 30, and between 70 and 80, the deaths of males in the former period exceeding those of the females 67, and in the latter period 55. One-third of the total number of deaths is of persons under 5 years of age, and over two-fifths of this number, or nearly one-seventh of the total number of deaths, takes place under 1 year of age. The Census of 1851 shows the annual mortality at that time to be 2802, being about 1 per cent. of the population. The increased mortality as exhibited in the present Census, is owing to the ravages of that, in this Province comparatively new, and fatal disease, Dyptheria, it having carried off over 1000 during the year. The mortality in Upper Canada in 1851, was under 1 per cent., and in Lower Canada 1½ per cent. In New Brunswick in 1851, it was similar to that of Lower Canada.

The returns of the Deaf and Dumb show nearly the same number, compared with the population, as in 1851. Some Counties return a less number than in 1851; but this may be accounted for by there being a number in the Deaf and Dumb Institution at Halifax, from the country, and all of which are included in the number from Halifax. There is 1 of this class in every 1100 of the population. In Canada in 1851, there was 1 in 1372, and in the United States 1 in 2395 of the entire population. The proportion of Deaf and Dumb in Great Britain, is 1 to 1590 of the population, in France, 1 to 1212, in Prussia, 1 to 1364, and in Switzerland, 1 to every

503. The average proportion of this class throughout the civilized world, is estimated at about 1 in 1550 of the population.

The report of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb for 1860, kindly furnished me by the Rev. James Cochran, M. A., the Secretary, who has always taken a deep interest in its management, shows that 42 of this unfortunate class attended the school during the year, 6 of whom belonged to Halifax, 7 were from New Brunswick, and 29 from various parts of this Province—viz.: 7 from the County of Pictou, 4 from Colchester, 4 from Annapolis, 3 from King's, 4 from Cape Breton, 2 from Queen's, and 1 each from Cumberland, Hants, Digby, Sydney, and Guysborough Counties.

In 1851 there were 136 Blind persons returned; the present Census returns 185; showing a somewhat larger proportionate increase than that of the population. There is no means of ascertaining from the returns, how many of these 185 were born blind, or how many became so from disease or old age; it is probable that not more than one-half, if so many, were born blind. I would suggest the propriety, in taking the next Census, so to arrange the schedules that such distinctive information may be obtained.

The number of Lunatics returned shows that this class of unfortunates, during the last decade, has increased in a greater ratio than the population. In 1851 there were 166, being only 1 in 1660 of the whole population; while the returns for 1861 show 340, including those in the Hospital for the Insane, being 1 in 970 of the population. A reference to the abstract at the close of the Census report, will show the number of Lunatics belonging to the several Counties, including those in the Asylum. It is difficult to account for this disparity, otherwise than by supposing that they were not all returned in 1851. The number of Idiots does not exhibit a like proportionate increase with that of Lunatics. There were 299 Idiots returned in 1851, and 317 in the present Census. Probably some who were returned in 1851 as Idiots, are now returned as Lunatics.

There are 5927 colored persons in the Province. The ratio of increase of this class of persons, for the past ten years, has been the same as the increase of the general population.

The returns of the Indians show an increase of 33 per cent. during the last decade. There were 1056 returned in 1851; while the present returns give 1407. The names, as far as they could be obtained, were taken by the Enumerators, and all at the same time, so that the present Census is reliable. Owing to the migratory habits of this portion of the population, it is difficult to obtain anything like a correct return, unless taken simultaneously. The prevailing opinion is, I believe, that the Indians are not increasing in the Province: if this opinion is well founded, the full number could not have been given in 1851.

The following table, compiled from the Enumerator's schedules, shows the number of Acadian French in the various Counties.

ORIGIN OF THE POPULATION.

The total population of Nova Scotia is 330,857. Of this number 294,706 were born in the Province, leaving 36,151 who have derived their origin from other places; the proportion born out of the Province being 10.92 per cent. of the whole.

Of this part of our population, Scotland furnishes the largest proportion, viz.: 16,395, or over 45 per cent. of the whole. The natives of Ireland stand next in number, viz.: 9313, and those of England next, viz: 2993.

Of the natives of Scotland, the Counties of Pictou, Inverness, Victoria and Cape Breton, have attracted the largest numbers. Of the natives of Ireland, 4478, or nearly one-half, are to be found in the County of Halifax, the remainder being pretty equally divided amongst the other Counties of the Province.

That the increase of our population is not derived, to any great extent, from immigration into the Colony since the last Census, will appear, from the following considerations. If such had been the case, the largest percentage of increase might be expected in those Counties the population of which contained the largest proportion of natives of other countries. The Counties which contain the largest proportion not native born, are Victoria, Cape Breton, Halifax and Inverness, the percentage to the population in these Counties being, respectively, 22.57, 20.62, 18.23, and 15.03; while the percentage of increase in these Counties is as follows, viz.: for Victoria and Cape Breton, which in 1851 were returned as one County, is 10.62, Halifax 25.33, and Inverness 18.02. Taking the Counties of Pictou and Cumberland, whose population contain about an equal proportion of those who have not derived their nativity from this country, viz.: a little over fourteen per cent. each, it will be found, that while the former has increased its population since 1851 by about 12½ per cent., the increase of the latter has amounted to over 36 per cent.; and the Counties of Lunenburg, Yarmouth, and Digby, which have the smallest proportion of this element in their population, viz.: Lunenburg, 1.18, Yarmouth, 2.48, and Digby, 4.42 per cent., have increased 19.74, 17.53, and 20.39 per cent., respectively.

RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS.

In the instructions accompanying the Householder's Schedule, it was directed that particular care should be taken to designate the religious profession of each member of the family, excepting those under 14 years of age, it being assumed that all children under that age would be of the same religious persuasion as the head of the family; and in transferring the numbers from those schedules for the purpose of classifying them under the different denominational heads, this assumption was in all cases kept in view. In some few instances, it was found that the religious profession of those above fourteen years of age in a family was not given; in such cases, if under twenty years of age, they were classified in accordance with the foregoing rule; if over that age, they were put down as amongst those whose religion was not given. This rule might not in every case be found to give a strictly correct statement of the religious persuasion of the family. Instances might occur in which the father might belong to one denomination, and the mother to another; part, or the whole of the children might follow the profession of the mother, and yet, under this rule, be classified with that of the father. The rule observed, however, will be found open to as few objections, as any that under the circumstances could have been adopted.

I cannot attempt to give any reliable statement shewing the comparative ratio of increase in the different denominations since the last Census was taken, as, owing to some error or omission in making up the returns of 1851, the sum of the religious denominations given does not agree with the amount of the total population of the Province, as shewn in the Census tables. This will the more clearly appear, by a reference to the following statement of the religious denominations, as furnished by the Census of 1851.

Church of England.....	36,482
Roman Catholic.....	69,634
Kirk of Scotland.....	18,867
Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia.....	28,767
Free Church.....	25,280
Baptist.....	42,243
Methodist.....	23,596
Congregationalist.....	2,639
Universalist.....	580
Lutheran.....	4,087
Sandinianians.....	101
Quakers.....	188
Other denominations.....	3,791
Making.....	256,255

The total population of the Province at that time was 276,117, leaving 19,862 not included or accounted for, showing an evident error in the religious classifications of that year. The discrepancy is more apparent in some Counties than in others. In the County of Cumberland, for instance, out of a population of 14,339, there are 4,275 who are not classed under any denominational head. In the Counties of Lunenburg, Cape Breton and Victoria, and Richmond, the numbers given in the religious classification, exceed the population of the respective Counties, the first by 639, the next two, by 199, and the last by 43. Digby and Annapolis are the only Counties in which the religious denominations appear to have been correctly classified in that year.

In the table accompanying this report, all the population is accounted for, and the members of each denomination, as far as could be ascertained, classed under their respective heads; those to whom, in the returns, no religious persuasion was assigned, being placed in the column marked "No creed given."

DEATHS AND CAUSES OF DEATHS.

Although it is very desirable that the statistical returns of the various causes which affect the health of the community, should be accurately ascertained, a difficulty has always existed in arriving at correct conclusions in this matter, from the inability of a large portion of the inhabitants of a country to specify the exact disease of which their relatives died; and this is particularly the case upon the introduction of any class of epidemics new to the country, or when the death had occurred at an early period of the year upon which the returns were demanded. Another difficulty arises from the fact that many diseases are known by different names in different localities, rendering it necessary to condense the materials supplied by the Enumerators, in order that the information thus given to the public may be placed in the clearest light, and in as concise a form as possible. The following tabular statement gives the diseases to which the deaths occurring during the year have been attributed, with the number of deaths from each disease.

It would appear from the foregoing statement, that the mortality from epidemics is greater than from any other cause, the deaths being 1592, or over one-third of the whole.

DYPHTHERIA.—This epidemic has been very fatal in several parts of the Province, the number of deaths from it being greater than from any other disease ; the largest mortality has been in the Counties of Richmond, King's, Lunenburg and Cumberland.

MEASLES.—The deaths from this cause number 152. The disease has been pretty general over the country.

SCARLET FEVER.—This disease has caused more deaths than any of the epidemics, except Dyphtheria. It has been most fatal in the Eastern Counties.

SMALL POX.—The number returned as dying from this cause is put down at 49, more than half of which have occurred in the County of Halifax.

TYPHUS FEVER.—The deaths from this cause have amounted to 66. They have occurred in most parts of the Province. This disease does not appear to have raged as an epidemic during the past year.

CONVULSIONS.—The deaths returned from this cause are 84; but it is probable that under this head other diseases are included, of which this affection is in early life an attendant.

CONSUMPTION.—From this disease, the most fatal to which the population is subject, 767 deaths are returned, a greater number than were returned from Upper Canada in 1851, with a population nearly three times as great. The Counties which have returned the largest number of deaths from this disease in proportion to the population, are Annapolis and Shelburne, and those which have returned the smallest number are Guysborough, Cape Breton and Queen's; in the former Counties twice as large a proportion have died from this disease as in the latter.

CROUP.—From this disease the deaths have been 122. As in other countries, it has been more equally distributed than most other diseases; but it appears to have been most fatal in the rural districts.

SORE THROAT.—The number returned as dying from this disease, is 153; it is probable, however, that some of those who are thus returned, died from Dyphtheria.

Although the rate of mortality for the whole Province appears by the returns to be somewhat greater than it was either in Canada or in New Brunswick, or even in this country in 1851, yet, having reason to believe that the whole number of deaths in the City of Halifax was not returned, as it is well known that Dyphtheria and Small Pox had prevailed there during the year for which the return of deaths was made up, I have compared the return made, with the record of interments in the different Cemeteries of the City, and find that the whole number of interments is 550; which would show that there were 226 deaths more than were returned, and would make the percentage of mortality for the city very great. This is an illustration of the extreme difficulty of getting, from the poorer classes in cities, correct returns of the deaths during the prevalence of contagious diseases. This remark, however, will not apply to the rural districts, and should not cast a doubt upon the correctness of the returns from those quarters, the circumstances of each family being so well known, that a death could scarcely occur in a community of this kind, and not be known to nearly every individual in it.

PROFESSIONS, TRADES AND OCCUPATIONS.

It has been generally admitted, that this department of the Census presents more difficulties in the way of getting at correct returns, than any other, and I do not know that Nova Scotia has any right to claim exemption from difficulties that have, in other countries, more or less attended every attempt to obtain correct information with regard to the employments of the population.

Nova Scotia has been frequently represented as a country whose soil and climate are not congenial to agricultural pursuits. A glance at the returns, however, will reveal the fact that 37,897, or nearly one-fourth of the entire male population, style themselves farmers, and 9,306 are classed as farm laborers; while in Upper Canada, which may be regarded as emphatically an agricultural country, but three-eighths of the male population claim to be so considered in the Census of 1851; and New York, in 1855, returned 321,930, or about one-fifth.

The class which stands next in numbers, in our Province, to the farm laborers, is the fishermen. In connection with this part of the returns, a somewhat singular circumstance demands attention. In abstract No. 5, it will be seen that 7659 return themselves as fishermen; while in abstract No. 6, under the head "men employed in the fisheries," it will be found that 14,322 are so engaged. Some explanation of the apparent anomaly may be given in this way: There are a number of persons in the Province whose ordinary occupation is farming, or some other pursuit on the land, but who are occasionally engaged in the fisheries, and keep boats for this purpose. When called upon to state their occupation, these persons would call themselves by that which they ordinarily followed; but when required to return the number of men employed in the boats, would include themselves, and some members of their families who had already been classed as following other pursuits. This will, in part, explain, but can scarcely account for the whole of the difference in the numbers of fishermen, as given in abstracts 5 and 6. It may, however, be regarded, and serve as an illustration of the difficulty of obtaining absolutely perfect information for a work of this kind.

The trades and occupations which, after those already named, give employment to the greatest number of our population are, mariners, 5242, and Carpenters and Joiners, 4463; Merchants, Shopkeepers, and Traders are represented by 1947, Shoemakers by 1976, Blacksmiths, 1518, Coopers, 1145, and Shipwrights, 1122. We have also 804 Teachers, and 283 Clergymen and Ministers, 170 Physicians, and 147 Lawyers. Lastly, we have 665 Miners, a class whose number will in all probability be greatly augmented, before the arrival of the next period for enquiring into the progress we have made in population and wealth, and those arts which contribute to the comfort and happiness of man.

AGRICULTURE.

It will be perceived, by referring to the Census by Trade and Occupation, that there are in the Province of Nova Scotia, 37,897 Farmers, and 9,306 Farm laborers. As in most instances the heads only, of families, have given their occupation, there must be a great number of male adults and others engaged in farming pursuits (the families in the rural districts being large), and could an approximate calculation be made of the number, it would be found, that a very considerable proportion of the total population of the country depends on this occupation as a means of subsistence. In many cases, where undivided attention has been directed to it, persons have become possessed of large and valuable properties, and have been well rewarded for their industry, adding to the wealth and prosperity of their native or adopted country.

When we compare the state of a country at two different periods, and find that the annual produce of its land and labor is evidently greater at the latter than at the former, that its lands are better cultivated, its manufactures more numerous and more flourishing, and its trade more extensive, we may be assured that its capital must be increased during the interval between those periods. To form a correct judgment of it, we must compare the state of the country, at periods somewhat distant from one another. The progress is frequently so gradual, that at short intervals the improvement is not only not apparent, but from the decline, either of certain branches of industry, or of certain districts of country, owing to fluctuations of trade, or other local causes, there may arise a belief that the industry and wealth of the whole is declining; when in fact the general state of the country may be one of great prosperity.

An illustration of this will be furnished by the following Comparative Table of the Agricultural Produce of Nova Scotia for the years 1851 and 1861.

NOTE.—The Census being taken in March 1861, the Returns show the product of 1860.

LAND.—In the Census of 1851, the quantity of Land yielding crop was returned under two heads only, viz.: Dyked Marsh, of which there was 40,012 acres, and Other Improved Land, 799,310 acres, making together 839,322 acres. The present returns divide it into four different classes, viz.: Dyked Marsh, Salt Marsh, Cultivated Intervale, and Cultivated Upland. Of the first of these classes, there appears by the returns to be 35,487 acres. This is less, by 4,525 acres, than the quantity given in 1851. It would be a mistake, however, to suppose that there is less of this description of land in cultivation now, than there was at the former period. The difference in the figures may be accounted for, from the fact that a large quantity of land now returned under the head of "Salt Marsh," was in 1851 given as "Dyked Marsh," there being in the returns of that year no other distinctive head under which to place it. Of Salt Marsh, the amount returned is 20,729 acres, making, together with the Dyked Marsh, a total of 56,216 acres, being an increase of 16,204 acres over the total amount of Marsh given in 1851. Of Cultivated Intervale and Cultivated Upland, the number of acres given are 77,102, and 894,714, respectively, making a total of 1,028,032 acres under cultivation in 1861, against 839,322 acres in 1851, being an increase of 188,710 acres. This increase is by no means general throughout the Province, some Counties having increased the quantity of cultivated land but little, while in the County of Shelburne there is a decrease of considerable amount. This decrease, supposing the return of 1851 to have been correct, can only be accounted for, on the supposition that the inhabitants have turned their attention to other branches of industry. The largest increase is in the Counties of Annapolis, King's, Sydney and Lunenburg. The total estimated value of the cultivated land by the present return is $18,801,365. The average value given per acre is, of Dyked Marsh $62.06, of Salt Marsh $26.04, of Cultivated Intervale $27.45, and of Cultivated Upland $15.58. By reference to the abstracts, it will be seen that the estimated value of the same description of land varies very largely in different parts of the Province. That there is a substantial difference in the value of the same description of land in different localities, caused by difference of productiveness, nearness to, or distance from, markets, and other local causes, there can be no doubt. This, however, cannot wholly account for the great discrepancy that appears in the returns. It is very evident that in many localities the prejudices of the people, to which reference has already been made, has caused owners of land to give an under-estimate of the value of their soil, thus materially reducing the general average value below what might be considered a correct return.

HAY.—Colchester, as in 1851, returns a larger quantity of Hay than any other County. King's and Cumberland are the next largest hay-producing Counties. The increase throughout the Province, as compared with the quantity returned in 1851, amounts to 46,450 tons, and it will be seen, by reference to the abstracts, that the increase is not confined to particular Counties, but is pretty general throughout the Province.

WHEAT.—The present returns show a large increase in the Wheat crop, in a few Counties, viz.: Sydney, Cumberland, King's and Annapolis; while in others they shew a decrease in the quantity raised, compared with 1851. This is, no doubt, owing in a great measure to the weevil having affected this grain in some parts of the Province more than in others. The total increase is 14,924 bushels. The Counties of Pictou, Cumberland, and Sydney, raise the largest quantities of wheat, and it is found, that the districts bordering on the Gulf of St. Lawrence are well adapted for the cultivation of this valuable cereal, on account of the nature of the soil and temperature of climate. Wheat of the finest quality can be produced there, weighing 60 lbs. and upwards per bushel, and in some cases giving large returns per acre, and when skilfully manufactured, furnishing flour equal to any imported from the United States.

BARLEY.—The County of Lunenburg produces 71,078 bushels of this description of grain, being more than one-fourth of all grown in Nova Scotia. In 1851, this County returned 50,361 bushels, showing an increase, compared with that period, of 20,717 bushels. There are other Counties which show a much more extensive cultivation of this grain than in 1851. Inverness produces the largest quantity next to Lunenburg. The total increase is 73,481 bushels. Dawson, in his work on Agriculture, suggests that its culture should be more widely extended.

BUCKWHEAT.—The returns show a total of 195,340 bushels of this grain grown in 1860—the Counties of Colchester and Cumberland together producing 117,524 bushels. In some parts of the Province it is not much cultivated; it is generally raised as a first crop on new and mountainous land.

OATS.—There is a considerable increase in this grain, viz.: 593,700 bushels. More attention is paid to its cultivation in Pictou, than in any other County. It is also cultivated largely in the Counties of Colchester, Sydney, Inverness and Cape Breton. It is considered highly nutritious and wholesome food, and more attention should be paid to its culture. If raised extensively, it would be found a good article for exportation to the United States.

RYE.—There is a decrease in this grain of 1732 bushels. It is not much cultivated, except in some of the Western Counties. Formerly there was a good deal of winter rye sown, but it appears not to be grown now; the straw not being serviceable as fodder, may be one cause.

INDIAN CORN.—There is also a decrease of 21,946 bushels in this grain. It appears to be more cultivated in the Western than in the Eastern Counties. It requires a light, deep soil, and warm season.

POTATO.—The returns show an increase in this valuable article of food, of 1,838,075 bushels, being nearly 100 per cent., the increase being very general throughout the Province. Notwithstanding the disease to which it has been subject for some years past, great attention has been paid to its cultivation, and in the Western Counties it has been found a source of great profit, so much so, that its cultivation has to some extent taken the place of wheat and some other grains. It has been found to succeed better there than in some other parts of the Province. A very remunerative market has been obtained in some of the United States.

TURNIPS.—It will be observed that the increase in this useful root is 87,191 bushels, being very small, compared with that of the potato. Dr. Forrester, in his publication on Agriculture, urges that greater attention should be paid to the culture of this and other root crops. They are frequently destroyed by insects, but with proper care and attention the crop is reasonably secure.

PEAS AND BEANS.—There appears a small decrease in the production of these articles of food. It is said they afford a large amount of nutriment, and are serviceable for fattening some description of stock. It would be well if their cultivation were increased.

PRODUCTS OF THE DAIRY.—Butter has increased 918,821 lbs., and Cheese 249,227 lbs. The amount of butter returned, as produced in 1860, is 4,532,711 lbs., and cheese 901,296 lbs.; the milch cows number 110,504. It will thus be seen that the yield is only 41.02 lbs. butter, and 8.15 lbs. cheese, per cow. This appears but a small return, as cows of good breed and in good condition, have given from 100 to 150 lbs. each in a season; if, therefore, 75 lbs. were computed as the average produce of each cow, it would amount to 8,287,800 lbs., and a corresponding increase in cheese. It was observed in making abstracts from the returns of Stock and Produce, that in many the number of cows was given without any return of butter. It is probable that many parties supposed that only the quantity of butter sold, should be returned, and that they omitted the amount consumed in each family, and the same thing as regards cheese.

HORSES.—There has been an increase in the number of these useful animals, of 13,138, and the value of good horses has also increased. As the country grows, and the condition of the population improves, it may be inferred that more horses are required for business and pleasure. More horses are now used in the cultivation of land, being better adapted than oxen for the cultivation of old lands where the fields have become level; oxen being principally used for rough and stony places.

NEAT CATTLE.—It is observable that the number is now less, by 5,064, than ten years since. There are, no doubt, more horses used now, where oxen were formerly employed for the same purpose; and in the Western part of the Province there are not so many cattle raised as formerly, either for working, or for market, for the reasons given in noticing the production of potatoes and the increase in that article, as more money has been made by selling potatoes, than would have been by raising and selling neat cattle.

Cows.—Milch cows have increased largely, and exceed the number in 1851, by 23,648. This increase is not confined to any particular County, but may be noticed in all. There is more demand for butter and cheese than formerly, as prices have advanced, and it is perhaps found more profitable to keep more cows and fewer neat cattle. A greater increase would ensue in butter and cheese, if more attention were paid to the comfortable housing of cows, and feeding them on more succulent food than is customary.

SHEEP.—There is an increase of 50,473 in these animals, so valuable on account of their wool and flesh, and the benefit of their manure to pasture lands. They are considered as profitable stock, and if greater care were taken to procure good breeds, and to feed and house more comfortably in winter, greater advantages would be derived than at present.

The following comparative statement shows the number of horses, neat cattle, cows, sheep and swine, owned in the Province in 1861, as compared with 1851:

It has been observed, in copying the agricultural returns from the schedules made by the head of each family, how small the amount of stock and produce raised appears in many instances, from a given quantity of land, and how inadequate they must be for the support of families comprising a great many individuals. It is evident that in such cases, families derive a portion of their subsistence from other sources, and are not dependent entirely upon their farms, nor do they give their undivided attention to the cultivation of the soil. This shews that there is still great room for improvement, and that more attention should be devoted to that important branch of industry.

It may be noticed that there is a progressive improvement in many of the Eastern Counties, and that their productions are rapidly increasing, and that to the Westward considerable attention is being paid to raising fruit, which is becoming a profitable article of export.

FISHERIES.

In the early settlement of Nova Scotia, the various descriptions of fish, which form so large an item in the exports from this Province, abounded in the waters around its shores; and having, up to that period, been scarcely disturbed in their feeding grounds, they were taken with much greater facility, and with infinitely less labor than at the present time. But notwithstanding the increased difficulty in carrying on this branch of business, it is gratifying to know that it is still prosecuted with unabated ardor and increasing success, as will be seen from the following statement, shewing the advancement made since the returns furnished by the Census of 1851.

Note.—The reader will remember that though the Census was taken in 1861, the return gives the number of vessels and boats employed, and the quantity of fish caught, in 1860.

In the year 1851, there were employed in the fisheries of the Province, 812 vessels, 5161 boats, and 10,394 men. The returns given by the present Census, shew that 900 vessels, 8816 boats, and 14,322 men, are engaged in prosecuting this important branch of industry, being an increase of 88 vessels, 3655 boats, and 3928 men; and they also shew that the quantity of fish cured has kept pace with the increased number of persons employed in the business. Of Dry Fish, there were cured in 1851, 196,434 quintals, and in 1860, 396,425 quintals, being 199,991 quintals more than were returned by the previous Census. Of Herrings, there were taken in the year 1851, 53,200 barrels, and in 1860, 194,170 barrels, the increase being 140,970 barrels. Of Alewives, there were taken in the year 1851, 5343 barrels, and in 1860, 12,565 barrels; the increase being 7,222 barrels. Of Shad, there were taken in 1851 3536 barrels, whilst the present returns shew, that of this valuable fish, 7,649 barrels have been secured; the increase, as compared with the former period, being 4,113 barrels. Of Smoked Herring, there were returned in 1851, as the produce of the fishery, 15,409 boxes: in 1860, the number of boxes cured amounted to 35,557, being an increase, as compared with the previous Census returns, of 20,148 boxes. The increase that has taken place in this branch of industry is not confined to a few Counties only; all parts of the Province in which the business has been carried on, having contributed their share in bringing about this result.

The only kind of fish in which there is a decrease of the catch, as compared with the returns of 1851, is the Mackerel. In that year there were caught 100,047 barrels, whilst the returns for the present Census shew but 66,108 barrels, the deficiency being 33,939 barrels; but this circumstance ought not to be regarded as any indication that this branch of the business is being prosecuted with any less vigor than heretofore, the migratory habits of this fish rendering the pursuit one of considerable uncertainty.

There are returned by the present Census 2481 barrels, and 2738 Smoked Salmon, against 1669 barrels for 1851, the increase being 812 barrels. There being no return of Smoked Salmon for the former year, I have no means of comparing the quantity cured in this way, as shewn by the present returns, with that of any former period. I may, however, remark here, that I do not think the quantity shewn by the present returns represents the entire catch of this valuable fish, as considerable numbers are sent during the season, fresh, to the United States from Halifax and some of the Western Counties.

Salmon are taken in the season, in every County in the Province, and it might be worthy of consideration whether inducements could be held out for the introduction into this country of the system of artificial breeding of this fish, which has been so successfully prosecuted in other places.

Gratifying as are the results of this enquiry, inasmuch as they shew so creditable an advance during the past decade, in our most important article of export, it must be borne in mind, that the success which has been achieved, has been almost exclusively with the inshore fishery—the deep sea or bank fishery being as yet, as far as this Province is concerned, almost wholly untouched.

LUMBER AND TIMBER.

These articles have always formed important items in the trade of the North American Colonies, both with the mother country, and in their interchanges with their Colonial brethren of more Southern climes. In Nova Scotia, when the land was to a large extent covered with the primeval forest, this business formed the winter occupation of a large portion of its inhabitants, and it is still pursued, to a greater or less extent, in most parts of the Province.

The Census Report for 1851 gave no return of the quantity of lumber manufactured at that time; I have therefore no data upon which to institute a comparison between the returns of the present Census and those of any previous period. A glance at these returns, however, will show the quantity manufactured last year, and the localities where the business is chiefly carried on. It will be seen that Cumberland returns the largest quantity of Deals, being more than two-thirds of all manufactured in the Province. Queen's returns the largest quantity of Pine boards, more than half of the whole quantity manufactured being from that County. The manufacture of Spruce and Hemlock lumber seems to be more evenly spread over the country than that of any other, as these woods, being of more rapid growth, and less sought after in the earlier periods of the timber trade than the Pine, now form a large portion of the Nova Scotia forests—Lunenburg supplies the largest proportion, the quantity being double that of any other County. Of square timber, Pictou, Colchester, and Halifax, return the largest proportion, the quantity from these three Counties being nearly one-half of all made in the Province during the Census year.

VESSELS.

From the situation of Nova Scotia on the Map of the American continent, and its almost insular position, maritime pursuits have, from an early period in its history, formed the occupation of a large portion of its population; and though she cannot compare with some of the other North American Colonies as regards the number of vessels built for sale in other countries, yet, no mean comparison might be instituted, as regards the number owned by her people, and sailed by them in most parts of the world. But, as the object of a work of this kind is more particularly to show the advancement or retrogression in the different branches of productive industry, made within given periods of time, I shall content myself with giving such information, from the materials I have at hand, as may facilitate the labors of others, who may choose to enter upon these enquiries.

I was desirous at the commencement of this work, of getting, through the Enumerators, the number of vessels and the amount of tonnage owned throughout the Province; but from the fact of many of the vessels being owned in small shares by a number of persons, some of whom resided in different polling districts from the others, I had not sufficient confidence in the accuracy of returns that might be furnished in this way, to warrant me in making it obligatory upon the Enumerators to supply them. Upon enquiry at the office of the Registry of Shipping, in Halifax, I found that no more accurate information could be afforded me respecting the shipping in this port, than was supplied for the Trade Returns, as given to the Legislature last year, and it was inferred that this would apply equally to the other ports of the Province; I have therefore appended a statement from those returns, showing the number of vessels owned, with the amount of tonnage, at that time.

Statement of the number and tonnage of Vessels registered in Nova Scotia, on 30th September, 1860.

These returns can only be regarded as an approximation to the amount of tonnage owned at that time in the Province, though sufficiently accurate for most practical purposes, inasmuch as there may have been vessels sold or lost, that had not been reported to the department.

The returns for the present Census will show the state of the ship-building trade, as compared with 1851. In that year there were returned, as having been built within the previous 12 months, 486 vessels, of the aggregate tonnage of 57,776. Since that period, owing to heavy losses sustained, consequent upon fluctuations peculiarly incident to this branch of business, there has been a falling off in the number of vessels built, and the present returns show that but 211 vessels, whose aggregate tonnage is 26,049, were launched in 1860. But the number returned as being in the course of building on the 30th of March last, would seem to indicate a revival in the business, as there were 265 vessels, estimated to measure in the aggregate 47,922 tons, on the stocks. The Counties which have returned the largest amount of tonnage as building, are Hants, which returns 7220 tons, and Yarmouth, which returns 6281 tons.

I have now brought this work to a close, and though defects and inaccuracies may be discovered in it, I have spared no pains to make it as perfect as the means at my disposal would enable me to do. If not altogether such as was expected, it must be borne in mind that this was a first attempt to make a complete Census of the Province; and I trust the information obtained has been put in such a shape, as to make it available to all who may have occasion to consult the work, and that sufficient materials have been collected to enable those who may be engaged in a subsequent work of this kind, to trace with greater accuracy the operation of those causes that have tended to advance or retard the prosperity of the the country.

Respectfully submitting the above,

I have the honor to be,

Gentlemen,

Your obedient humble servant,

STEPHEN FULTON,

Secretary.

NOTE.—Of the 393 persons returned from District No. 1, County of Cumberland, as belonging to the Presbyterian Church of the Lower Provinces, 271 should be classed under the head of “ Reformed Presbyterian Church.” The error occurred in transcribing the figures from the Householders’ Schedules to the Abstract form, and was not discovered until after the sheet had gone to press.
